

DR. ANGELA E. MILLER
BIO

Dr. Angela Miller is an accomplished academic professional with a wealth of experience in the field of International Education. As Associate Director of Academic Programs Abroad, Louisiana State University, Dr. Miller is responsible for overseeing the development and implementation of study abroad programs for faculty and students.

Dr. Miller holds an Ed.D. in Educational Leadership from Northern Arizona University, where her doctoral research focused on global learning in the undergraduate curriculum. Over the past 15 years, she has served in various leadership roles in International Education, making an impact in the lives of thousands of students. Prior to her current position, she served as Director of Education Abroad and Liaison for the Diversity Leadership Council at Case Western Reserve University and Director of Study Abroad and Liaison for Outreach, Diversity, and Inclusion at the University of Florida. She has also held positions as the Assistant Director of Education Abroad, Coordinator for the Global Learning Internationalization initiative, and Coordinator of Faculty-led programs at Northern Arizona University. Throughout her career she has managed and assisted faculty in developing hundreds of study abroad programs.

Dr. Miller is a passionate advocate for international education and is committed to creating study abroad opportunities for students who are traditionally underrepresented in study abroad. She has firsthand experience of the powerful difference that studying abroad can make in students' lives and believes that every student should have the opportunity to study abroad.

Dr. Miller is an active member of the international education community, serving as the Co-Chair for the ACE Internationalization Lab Education Abroad Sub-Committee at Louisiana State University and Co-Chair of NAFSA Association of International Educators' Women and Leadership Member Interest Group. She is a regular presenter at professional conferences on various topics in International Education, including global learning, internationalization, diversity & inclusion, women in leadership, and risk management.

Dr. Miller's leadership and dedication to the field of International Education have made a significant impact on students, faculty, and colleagues alike. She is a respected voice in the field and is well-regarded for her commitment to International Education.
